Our Democratic Morris County Candidates

JONATHAN SACKETT FOR MORRIS COUNTY COMMISSIONER

Jonathan Sackett is serving his second term on the Rockaway Township Council and has been the Council President and Vice President. Sackett has lived in Rockaway Township nearly his entire life, attending the local public schools. He is a graduate of Rutgers University with a degree in economics and accounting. He is an account executive with a paint company and the small business owner of a martial arts school. As a dad of four, Sackett has been a volunteer coach for soccer, flag football, football, basketball, and baseball. Among other volunteer activities, he was on the education committee at Adath Shalom synagogue in Parsippany. He is currently running for Morris County Commissioner.

CARRIE O'BRIEN FOR MORRIS COUNTY CLERK

Caroline (Carrie) O'Brien started lobbying in Trenton at the age of 5; before turning 10 she was canvassing for local Democrats. By 15, Carrie began volunteering on the Montville Township First Aid Squad and became a licensed EMT at 16 years old. By 18, she started a full-time career in massage therapy, while serving on the executive board of the Morris County Young Democrats. She achieved an AA in Communications from County College of Morris, where she played soccer and volunteered for the school paper. She received a BS in Environmental Science, Policy, Business and Communications from Southern Oregon University. While attending SOU, she volunteered with nonprofits and worked with state legislators introducing policy protecting fragile ecosystems of the Pacific Northwest. Her background includes policy, economics, business administration, risk/crisis management, disaster preparedness, and sustainable development. Currently, she runs several small businesses and volunteers with local conservation and political organizations. Now, she aspires to continue serving her community as Morris County Clerk.
